

Account Preparation & Financial Reporting

The preparation of Accounts, including consolidations, and associated Financial Reporting issues are a necessary part of communicating with owners and shareholders. Yet, as a view of the past they afford management little focus on the future, where the direction and success of the business will lay.

Furthermore, this task requires considerably more skilled accounting resources than the transaction based processes that form the majority of the headcount of the Finance function.

By outsourcing this task to KS Arcis management can ensure it devotes the maximum time to adding value where it most matters whilst maximising the cost benefits that offshoring can provide.
